Day 5. Balinese day

Ubud 📍
🚗 - ⌚ 1h
📍
Ubud 📍

- Today, traditions and sharing will be in the spotlight. Total immersion in Balinese daily life: cooking, making offerings, dancing, music... In the heart of a Balinese family, let's go to the market to buy the ingredients necessary to prepare the meal.
Then head home, where we will spend the majority of the day exchanging and participating in the different activities of Balinese daily life: making coffee, preparing offerings. We then take part in a cooking class which we then taste.
At the beginning of the afternoon, walk in the middle of the village and the surrounding nature. Return home for a farewell snack with our hosts... A day full of sharing!

🚗 43km - ⌚ 2h
Besakih Temple 📍
🚗 43km - ⌚ 2h
Ubud 📍

- This morning, we head towards the Temple of Kehen.
- Then, we visit the Kehen temple in Bangli. This temple is one of the most revered in Bali. Its plant garden and its temple with eleven "meru" make it a place full of spirituality and traditions.
- Then, we visit the temple of Besakih. Located on the misty slopes of Mount Agung at an altitude of 1000 meters, it is the most important temple on the island comprising a religious complex of 22 separate temples, spread over seven terraces. Between its 11-story "meru" roofs, the almost constant religious ceremonies and its point of view "between sea and mountains": this temple is surely one of the most spiritual. It is also the oldest and most revered temple in Bali.
- Then, it is in the town of Klungkung that we discover the court of justice where the punishments formerly inflicted on outlaws are represented, like threats hanging over the heads of the accused.

Day 9. Along the rice fields

Ubud 📍
🚗 17km - ⌚ 1h
Mengwi 📍
🚗 45km - ⌚ 1h
Jatiluwih 📍
🚗 42km - ⌚ 2h 30m
Ubud 📍

- This morning, we are going to visit the Sangeh monkey forest.
This forest, much less touristy than its big sister in Ubud, is made up of 3 temples and more than 500 monkeys roaming free.
- Then, we visit Pura Taman Ayun a state temple located in Mengwi.
It is one of the only temples where royal ancestral deities are celebrated. Its peaceful gardens, its architecture with its alignment of groupers make it a place where calm and serenity reign.
- Then we head towards Jatiluwih, a small village located in the middle of the most beautiful rice fields of Bali, in the central-western part of the island.
- We then begin a superb hike through this veritable ocean represented by the rice terraces that surround us.
3 hours of walking
- Finally, we visit Luhur Batukaru temple, which emerges in a lush green setting and where several multi-roofed "meru" stand, some of which date back to the 17th century, dedicated to the ancestors of the Tabanan dynasty and to local protective deities.

🚗 - ⌚ 2h 30m
Balangan 📍
🚗 - ⌚ 2h
Tanah Lot 📍
Ubud 📍

- This morning head to the beaches of southern Bali, more particularly Balangan beach. This peaceful beach is a great place for swimming and eating at the small restaurants on stilts along the beach. It's also a very good surfing spot...
- At the beginning of the afternoon, head to the Uluwatu temple a few kilometers from Balangan. This temple perched on the cliff is the monkeys' haunt. It is also and above all an important place of prayer for the Balinese.
- At the end of the afternoon, we discover the temple of Tanah Lot, which means "Land of the Sea" in Balinese. It stands on an islet beaten by the waves of the ocean, it is a place of pilgrimage very popular with tourists and photographers.
Tanah Lot Temple was built in the 16th century on the advice of the famous Javanese priest Danghyang Nirartha to pay homage to the guardian spirits of the sea.
This remarkable site also benefits from one of the most splendid sunsets on the island.
